

Ohio Planning Crackdown On Highway Truck Violations

COLUMBUS, March 4 — (P)—Ohio has a lot of bad news today for violators of the highway truck laws. The Public Utilities Commission of Ohio and the State Highway Patrol are going into high gear to stop them.

Commission Chairman Robert L. Moulton said the drive swings into action next month. It will increase truck inspections about 400 per cent, he estimated.

Candidates Filled With Confidence

All Singing Same Tune To Voters In New Hampshire Poll

WASHINGTON, March 4 — (P)—The presidential campaign of the three top Republican hopefuls is attune to the theme, "I can win no matter what anybody says."

Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee, the most active Democratic candidate, pitched his speeches to much the same key.

The candidates aimed their political oratory at New Hampshire's voters, who hold the nation's first 1952 presidential preferential primary next Tuesday.

On the Republican side, former Minnesota Gov. Harold Stassen and Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's campaign manager, Sen. Lodge of Massachusetts were on the scene. Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio was due Thursday.

Kefauver arrived Tuesday to drum up the Democratic vote.

Here are the latest happenings in the campaign camps:

REPUBLICAN

1. Stassen predicted he would draw "considerable" of the would-be backers of Gen. Douglas MacArthur in New Hampshire. He repeated what he has said often, that Taft and Eisenhower can't win, they cancel out one another.

2. Lodge, Eisenhower's would-be a fighting campaigner who will make every Truman bureaucrat and demagogue take out for the high hills."

3. Taft, in Wisconsin, said there is no basis for the charge that "Taft can't win." He promised organized labor a Republican administration would "perfect" a Taft-Hartley law that would "meet all reasonable demands."

4. Some of Eisenhower's views were set forth in an article in a book, "The Welfare State and the National Welfare." Eisenhower's article said "indifference" by voters was threatening America as much as "the most unscrupulous office seeker" or "the most powerful foreign threat." "The future of this republic is in the hands of the American voter," he declared.

DEMOCRATIC

1. Kefauver told a Boston audience "a strong organization is out to get me" in the New Hampshire primary, "but the final decision rests with the people and I am out for this support."

2. Sen. Robert S. Kerr of Oklahoma said in a recorded San Diego speech the Democrats were "never stronger" and the Republicans "never weaker or more divided." He accused "reckless Republican leaders"—he named Taft—of injuring the United Nations position in the Korean peace talks.

3. Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn), a favorite son candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination, said in Washington there should be a showdown on the President's civil rights program with southern Democrats backing Sen. Russell. "Inevitably" the next President will be a Republican if the Democrats retreat on this issue, he said.

City Workers Donate $15 To Home Kiddies

Circleville city employees Tuesday added their bit to the slowly swelling drive to replace personal possessions lost by kiddies of Pickaway County Children's Home.

Workers in the city sewage department Tuesday chipped a $15 cash donation into the fund.

To date, most of the donations for the Home youngsters have been in the form of cash. However, there is a need also for sports equipment such as balls, bats, ball gloves etc.

Anyone wishing to donate to the children probably can find used equipment around the house which would help the youngsters.

Donations may be taken to Circleville fire department.

"The cooperation of the highway patrol in this matter," he said, "means that for the first time the people of Ohio will get an accurate picture of the nature of trucking operations in their state."

The new program has been in the making since last fall. Starting in April, each patrol "road man" will check one truck each week for any violation of loading, safety or other regulations. The check-a-week routine will be in addition to operation of six patrol weighing stations and other investigations.

Commission inspectors now average about 775 investigations monthly. The new program will boost total inspections to around 2,775 a month.

The commission will use the reports to cite truckers for possible suspension or revocation of their operating permits. Copies will go to the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Cal. George Mingle, patrol superintendent, said the new system will provide a good cross-section check on truck compliance with rules. The patrol has been sending reports to the commission for several months on trucks caught over-loading—a practice blamed for many road cracks. Patrolmen will make their reports next month on new check sheets prepared by Edward T. Schreiner of Willard, commission motor inspection chief. The commission approved them last Thursday.

Commission instructors will explain them at the patrol officers' school April 1-14. Moulton said:

"The Public Utilities Commission of Ohio has, at one time or another, jurisdiction over about 5,000 trucks. We are able to check only about 775 of these a month. This does not tell us of the public how trucks operate in Ohio.

"But we now will have accurate, mass information on a good part of the truck movement across the state.

"This plan also will free our own inspectors so they can make more investigations at the trucking terminals, to stop trouble and violations before the trucks get on the road.

"It will enable us to definitely put a finger on the carriers who are trying to do a good job and on those who are trying to evade their responsibilities to the public.

"It is my opinion that many of the truckers are trying to obey our laws, rules and regulations, but the entire trucking industry has suffered from the actions of the persistent violator.

"Now, for the first time, we will be able to accurately single out the sheep from the goats.

"Furthermore, we will have solid information as a basis for deciding where our rules are weak and how to correct these weaknesses."

UN, Reds Tightening Armistice Deadlock

MUNSAN, March 4 — (P)—Korean "right talk" went back where they were Dec. 18," Rear Adm. R. E. Libby said Tuesday after arguing with the Communists whether 50,000 missing Allied troops actually exist.

Libby demanded the Reds account for the missing South Korean soldiers the UN Command says the Reds incorporated in the North Korean Army.

They "do not exist," said North Korean Maj. Gen. Lee Sang Cho. He called it an Allied fabrication, an attempt to block our progress by creating another hindrance."

The Reds concede some South Koreans are in the Communist Army, but contend they are volunteers and that many deserted the South Korean Army.

"They do exist and have always existed," Libby snapped back. And they "must be returned to our side" when prisoners of war are exchanged.

AT THIS point Libby said: "Apparently we are back where we were on Dec. 18." Negotiators exchanged lists of prisoners of war on that date.

Former Local Man Sheds Two Mates At Same Time

Many men consider it a blessing when they are shed from the entanglement of marital woes by divorce.

If that be the case, then a former native of Circleville was twice-blessed Monday in Columbus.

M. Herbert Hoover, many times a candidate for state office, was divorced from two mates at the same time Monday in Franklin County common pleas court.

Here's how it happened: Hoover was in court Tuesday answering a suit for divorce filed by Mrs. Lois C. Hoover.

BUT DURING divorce proceedings, it was found Hoover still was legally married to Mrs. Julia Hoover, whom he married in 1914.

Neither he nor Julia Hoover ever got a divorce, and Hoover married Mrs. Lois Hoover in 1937.

So, Domestic Relations Judge Clayton W. Rose proclaimed "divorce granted" after he had reviewed the cases here Monday.

Youth Talked Out Of Fatal Plunge

CINCINNATI, March 4 — (P)—Robert M. Jones Jr., 24, was pulled to safety Tuesday by a priest and his father after threatening for nearly two hours to jump from the 47th floor of an office building.

Also a part of Tuesday's council meeting will be reviewing of three proposed ordinances.

CITY SOLICITOR George Gerhardt said the councilmen are expected to ponder ordinances for: (1) setting sewage rates for Container Corporation; (2) appropriate $100 for expenses of the charter commission; and (3) give the city service director authority to advertise for bids on tar and gravel.

Workers in the city sewage department Tuesday chipped a $15 cash donation into the fund.

U.S. SENATOR IS ANGERED

DeGaulle Now Looming As Key To Paris Crisis

PARIS, March 4 — (P)—The lanky figure of Gen. Charles DeGaulle is casting a lengthening shadow over French politics as Independent Antoine Pinay tries to patch a new cabinet of experts from the ill-fitting jigsaw pieces of France's non-Communist parties.

Few observers gave Pinay—transport minister in the lame duck government of Edgar Faure—any better chance of success than his predecessors.

Jaunty wartime Premier Paul Reynaud had failed to stitch together what Pinay is seeking—a National Union government of technicians drawn from all parties except the Communists. Rene Pleven, still smarting from the defeat which threw him out of office in January, refused even to try.

The crisis was in its fifth day. It began because the assembly voted 1,400 billion francs—about four billion dollars—for arms—including expanded defense of Western Europe—then refused a 15 per cent tax boost to help pay the bill.

SOME FRENCH deputies were talking about asking the United States for still more aid to pay France's defense bill. But in Washington, Chairman Tom Connally (D-Tex) of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, angrily thundered that unless France does "her utmost in her own defense, she cannot justify large appropriations from the United States for both economic and military aid."

Such plain talk from the Senate's most potent voice on foreign affairs indicated the French failure to find the funds for her part of North Atlantic defense was building up fresh trouble for President Truman's request for $7.9 billion for foreign aid.

Their strategy is to open it to amendments which might pacify some opponents and win over some "doubtful" members.

WITH A FULL week of debate ended, Rep. Short (R-Mo), leading the opposition, told newsmen the bill would be recommitted with "votes to spare."

Amendments which the bill's supporters might accept in return for passage would put a time limit on the operation of UMT—perhaps three years—and prohibit operation of both selective service and UMT at the same time.

As it now stands, the bill would require able-bodied males to take six months of military training when they reach 18 and to remain in reserve status for an additional 7½ years. The draft and UMT could operate concurrently, but the presumption is there would be no large-scale induction in UMT until draft calls have tapered off.

2,500 Homes Leveled By Tidal Waves

American Soldiers Giving Aid To Devastated Areas

TOKYO, March 4 — (P)—

A terrifying earthquake and tidal waves killed at least 31 persons in Northern Japan Tuesday, injured hundreds and destroyed more than 2,500 homes.

Railway trains were toppled over. Rail lines were reported swallowed by great fissures. A coal mine partially collapsed. Harbor facilities were badly damaged at Kushiro, port city of 68,000 on the southeast coast of Hokkaido Island. Kushiro was the center of destruction.

Most of the dead were in and near the town, on Japan's most northerly island. Tidal waves knocked down warehouses. The quake touched off 11 fires.

Nine people were buried alive by a landslide. The quake was generated north of Tokyo. Tokyo itself was not damaged.

Opponents of the politically-hot issue maneuvered warily for a parliamentary opening to get a vote on a motion to send the UMT bill back to the Armed Services Committee for "further study."

If successful, that probably would kill the measure as far as the present House is concerned.

Rep. Vinson (D-Ga.), chairman of the committee and floor manager for the bill, predicted he could head off the recommission maneuver. However, even the bill's supporters were not sure they had sufficient strength to pass the measure in its present form.

Their strategy is to open it to amendments which might pacify some opponents and win over some "doubtful" members.

WASHINGTON, March 4 — P—The struggle against Communism makes strange bedfellows for the United States. Indochina is a good example.

Even with American help the French in Indochina haven't been able to whip the Communist Vietminh troops. And the Communists in turn haven't been able to win decisively even with help from Red China.

The fact is the French are doing badly. After six years of struggle against Ho Chi-minh's Vietminh, the French steadily are being pushed back.

In the last 21 months, the U. S. has pumped more than $500 million in military aid into the French in Indochina. And the Chinese Communists have poured vast supplies southward to the Vietnamese.

This has been a steady drain on the U. S. and China, both of which could have used their military supplies elsewhere. It's been a steady drain on the French, too.

It's kept pinned down there 170,000 troops who could otherwise be used in the defenses of Western Europe. And the French losses in Indochina have spread discontent in France.

WHAT THE French want in Indochina is what they've always wanted: Undisturbed possession. It's been their colony a long time, and they want to keep it that.

Their record in Indochina has been shabby. They've treated it as a colony, exploiting it and its people. The Democracy they practiced at home was something they didn't export to Indochina.

They seemed, and still seem, unable to get it through their heads, that the age of Western colonialism in Asia is finished.

At the end of World War II they were washed up and done in Indochina and would have remained done if the British hadn't bailed them out by holding the line for them until France could get troops back in.

The French today have about as much right in Indochina as we'd have by trying to move in and take over Mexico. Still, if they withdrew or collapsed, all Southeast Asia would be open to Communism.

Howard Christy Dies At Age 79

COLUMBUS, March 4 — P—Gov. Frank J. Lausche has paid tribute to Howard Chandler Christy, famous magazine illustrator and mural painter who died Monday at 79.

"He was a great artist and a native son of Ohio," Lausche said. "Usually individuals, as they grow older, wane in their abilities. That was not true of Howard Chandler Christy. His paintings grew more fascinating as the years went on. Two permanent memorials to his soul and artistic craftsmanship are in the state capitol at Columbus. I regret his passing."

Christy was born on a farm in Morgan County, and attended public schools in Duncan Falls until he was 12.

U.S. Farmers Now Facing Critical Stage

WASHINGTON, March 4 — P—The nation's agriculture is moving into a critical planning stage for this year's production.

Prospects are clouded by a general downturn in prices, a tight labor supply and a scarcity of some types of machinery.

The Agriculture Department's vast staff of crop reporters is now busy contacting farmers to find out what their production plans are. Results of the survey will be reported March 19.

Secretary Brannan has outlined a record volume of production goals. If attained, the harvest would be six per cent larger than last year. Brannan said a big volume is needed to supply requirements under the defense program and to rebuild shrinking reserves.

Perhaps the most disturbing element is a decline in prices. Taken as a whole, they have dropped five per cent since the first of the year. They dipped nearly four per cent in February alone, and there are indications they will drop further this month.

Generally speaking, farmers are prone to cut back a little on production when prices are going down.

Of two dozen major farm products, only eight are bringing producers parity prices or better. They are beef cattle, veal calves, lambs, butterfat, milk, cotton, potatoes and sweet potatoes.

Parity is a standard for measuring farm prices. It is declared by law to be equally fair to farmers and those who buy their products.

Annual Farm Bureau Meeting Due March 12

Pickaway County Farm Bureau Cooperative will have its annual meeting at 8 p. m. March 12 in the West Mound street Coop store.

Program committee, headed by Ralph Bolender, Circleville Route 2, has lined up some outstanding entertainment for the session, including a chorus from Walnum Township high school and Leist Sisters accordion duet.

Art Warren, sales manager for National Farm Machinery Cooperatives, will be guest speaker during the evening.

Warren is a forceful speaker. He has had more than 20 years experience in farm machinery. He served with the Royal Canadian Air Force for four years and then with the Cockshutt Farm Machinery Co. Ltd. before joining National.

REPORTS, discussions of future plans and election of three directors will be features at the annual meeting. There will also be valuable awards, prizes and refreshments.

An open house and tractor and machinery carnival will be held from 10 a. m. to 4 p. m. March 12 in the Coop store. This is for Pickaway County farmers and their families.

Program of the day includes machinery and appliance demonstrations, free movies, souvenirs and refreshments.

NEW YORK, March 4 — P—A woman cashier lost $4,200 to a robber in busy Rockefeller Center.

Elaine Feinster, restaurant cashier, was en route to a bank Tuesday when a man accosted her. He ordered her into the side entrance of a building and took an envelope from her. It contained $3,600 in cash, $400 in defense bonds and a $200 check.

PAY FOR VOTING TIME IS UPHELD

WASHINGTON, March 4 — P—The Supreme Court has upheld a Missouri law which requires employers to give their workers four hours off with pay on election days.

The court was told 24 other states have similar laws, although not all of them require that workers be paid for time taken off.

REALTORS BRING CHANGES IN SCHOOL BOOKS

CLEVELAND, March 4 — P—Because of a strong protest from the Cleveland Real Estate Board, Superintendent of Schools Mark C. Schinnerer has agreed to order deleted a sentence from the future issue of a high school text book.

The phrase, from the book "The Challenge to Democracy," reads: "Perhaps the cruelist hoax ever perpetrated upon the American public is the advertised slogan 'own your own home'."

In humans, complete removal of adrenal glands is bringing at least temporary health to some persons with otherwise hopeless, far-advanced cancers of the breast and prostate gland.

SPiritual NEEDS SAID CRISIS NOW

MONTREAL, March 4 — P—The crisis of our age is far more spiritual than political and economical, Rabbi Abba Hillel Silver of Cleveland said here Monday night. He said the religious bodies of the world, to meet the challenge of the times, should unite as a world federation and present the case for man's salvation to the United Nations.

Rabbi Silver, who served as chairman of the American section of the Jewish Agency for Israel prior to the creation of the state of Israel, said newspapers and radio today emphasize political, economic and scientific problems, but fail to realize that "this is a crisis of belief of spiritual needs."

Most of the school board members agreed that the sentences were ill-advised, but Board Member Carl F. Shuler declared:

"What I read in there I thought was good advice for young people. Of course, you real estate boys don't think so. You get a commission, but it's the poor devil who gets caught."

The second book contained the sentence: "But for the majority of Americans (other than farmers) home ownership can no longer be recommended."

AMERICAN LATIN POLICY IS RAPPED

MEXICO CITY, March 4 — P—The Juan Jose Arevalo, former leftist president of Guatemala, said in a speech Monday night the United States is trying to split Latin American unity.

At a banquet given for him by Spanish Republican leaders in exile in Mexico, Arevalo said the U. S. "fears, hates, and envies everything Spanish." An attempt is being made to "Balkanize" Latin America, he declared.

Missionary-Flyer Brings Gospel to Wilds

Robert R. Standley, writer and director of aviation for the Southern Baptist Mission of Brazil, stands beside trusty plane.

EDITOR'S NOTE — Robert R. Standley studied at Southern Baptist Theological seminary, Louisville, Ky., where he was ordained in 1933. In December, 1951, he went to Brazil. FORTALEZA, Brazil — God's work is being done with the help of wings in the wild, almost impenetrable jungle and desert country of Brazil. The wings are those of a plane, which has carried the gospel, and has gone on errands of mercy, to remote corners of our missionary field.

This is in a far-flung area of northeastern Brazil, larger than the state of Texas and with virtually no roads or other means of direct transportation between settlements.

We have thanked the Lord hundreds of times for the plane, which has been the means of evangelizing a vast region with few workers.

During our first year of operation, from the time I arrived at my headquarters at Fortaleza Feb. 10, 1950, with my brand new wings, a total of 428 hours, 33 minutes were flown—a distance of approximately 52,000 miles.

At first it was believed that the plane would be used to provide transportation for the evangelization of the immense regions in northeast Brazil, primarily in the state of Ceara, to which I was assigned.

However, because of the lack of a resident missionary in the adjoining state of Piaui, I was appointed missionary in that field, and the area the plane was to serve was automatically extended. Then, it was decided that since Maranhao is the neighboring state to Piaui, the plane might provide transportation for field trips of the missionary of that state, also.

IN ADDITION, surveys were made of the deep north-central region of Goias, in the very center of Brazil; and in the Sao Francisco river of Bahia, a coastal state south of Fortaleza.

In the Goias survey another missionary and I visited 20 cities in an area that had required my companion four months to travel by mule train and truck some time before. It took us only four days by plane to accomplish as much if not more.

To many Brazilians, our ship has come to be known as a great bird of mercy. When the Jaquareibe river flooded the city of Aracati in May, 1950, we made several flights transporting doctors, nurses and governmental officials to the stricken area.

A man who had contracted tetanus in the interior of Brazil was flown by us to Fortaleza for medical attention. The body of an old lady was taken to her home town in the interior of the state for burial, and the body of a young

Truth Fools More Persons Than Lies

Magic Tricks Explained By Attorney

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK — Do you know the greatest feat of magic ever performed?

John J. McManus, a corporation attorney who owns the world's largest collection of magic apparatus, says you don't have to be a Houdini to perform it. Anybody can do it.

"The best magic trick I know of is to tell the truth," he said dryly. "You can fool more people than you can by telling lies."

McManus, former president of the Rolls Royce Company of America, knows far more about magic than most men who make it a career. He has assembled a library of 2,000 volumes on the occult and 3,000 props used by the great professional magicians of the past. Part of his collection, valued at more than $100,000, will be shown at the National Antiques Show in Madison Square Garden next week.

It was employed by the American consul at Fortaleza to investigate the destruction of American property in a case of religious persecution in the south of Ceara; and it helped in the search for a wrecked B-25 from the Fortaleza Air Base.

However, its primary use is in the field of evangelism. Under the old system, churches in my field could not be reached more than two or three times a year.

Within a one-year period, I was able to visit these same churches 25 times and more. I feel sure that this newfound mobility of the flying missionary has made possible the healthy state of the field at this time.

REGIONS in the interior we could not reach previously are now scenes of regular preaching services. A trip that would require four days by canoe and horseback can be made in 40 minutes by plane.

Because our funds are limited, we keep a close watch on operating expenses. During that first year, gas, oil, hangar, service fees and parts, costs proved a startling and pleasant discovery. Cost per mile was five cents, but still more gratifying was the cost per passenger mile, since we rarely made a trip without one or more passengers. This came to only $.012.

After a year's service, the plane was in perfect condition. When time came for the 500-hour over-haul, I did it myself, assisted by an excellent mechanic, a missionary from another mission in the interior of Ceara, the state which Fortaleza is capital.

He was also able to perform all most all the other mechanical maintenance. Thus, the cost of maintenance has been held low.

In my financial report to the mission headquarters, I pointed out that after one year, its value in the Brazilian market, plus the value of parts and tools in stock, equaled $10,900.

"When one considers that the plane cost, with the parts bought at the factory, $11,800, we came to the conclusion that it has been an unusually good investment of missionary money," I wrote.

However, dollars and cents don't tell the story of the real value of air travel as an instrument of Christianity.

Often as we fly we look down on vast forests where Indians still roam, and notice a lonely trail or winding river, the only link between almost isolated settlements.

We realize then that we never could have hoped to bring God's message to the hinterland except by means of the plane. It is the Twentieth Century missionary's indispensable partner in penetrating hitherto impassable frontiers.

form of it surrounds our every step.

"Take hypnotism, for example," he said. "The commonest form of that is—marriage.

"World leaders, from the days of medieval English kings on, often have guided the destinies of their subjects by the advice of private spiritualists, astrologers and palmists.

"The last Russian czar had Rasputin; Mussolini and Hitler had their astrologers. And you'd be surprised by how many big businessmen and government officials still consult fortune tellers."

"Maybe some of us feel we don't believe in any of this, and may regard it all as nonsense, but we are subjected to others who use it in their dealing with public affairs."

McManus recalled how the art of Robert - Houdin, the great French magician, was put to political use to quell a North African uprising in the last century.

He called in the native leaders and showed them a box on his desk. Lifting it easily, he put it down again and asked them to try.

They couldn't budge it.

"I have taken away your strength," the magician said, and the natives fled in terror. Robert-Houdin naturally didn't bother to explain the box contained a strong magnet, making it impossible to lift when he flipped on an electric current.

"Phrenology was employed by the Union forces in our own Civil War," McManus continued.

"Women spy candidates were tested to be sure they had what was called 'the bump of secretiveness.' "

McManus said magic and magic apparatus is still a factor in the operation of every group—from the couches of psychiatry to the ticker in a stockbroker's office."

"But the trouble with magic today," he concluded dolefully, "is there are too many hacks in it."

Business managements might take a tip from him, however. What better way could be found

The plane has been used to fly an engine and other replacement parts, and mechanics inland to repair planes which had been stranded for months because of difficulty in reaching them.

They couldn't budge it.

SKY PILOT FOR BRAZIL

Missionary Flyer Brings Gospel to Wilds

Robert R. Standley, writer and director of aviation for the Southern Baptist Mission of Brazil, stands beside trusty plane.

EDITOR'S NOTE — Robert R. Standley studied at Southern Baptist Theological seminary, Louisville, Ky., where he was ordained in 1934. In December, 1934, he went to Brazil. He attained a Brazilian pilot's license by presidential proclamation because only Brazilian citizens are ordinarily allowed to have a pilot's license.

FORTALEZA, Brazil — God's work is being done with the help of wings in the wild, almost impenetrable jungle and desert country of Brazil. The wings are those of a plane, which has carried the gospel, and has gone on errands of mercy, to remote corners of our missionary field.

This is a far-flung area of northeastern Brazil, larger than the state of Texas and with virtually no roads or other means of direct transportation between settlements.

We have thanked the Lord hundreds of times for the plane, which has been the means of evangelizing a vast region with few workers.

During our first year of operation, from the time I arrived at my headquarters at Fortaleza Feb. 10, 1950, with my brand new wings, a total of 428 hours, 33 minutes were flown—a distance of approximately 52,000 miles.

At first it was believed that the plane would be used to provide transportation for the evangelization of the immense regions in northeast Brazil, primarily in the state of Ceara, to which I was assigned.

However, because of the lack of a resident missionary in the adjoining state of Piau, I was appointed missionary in that field, and the area the plane was to serve was automatically extended. Then, it was decided that since Maranhao is the neighboring state to Piau, the plane might provide transportation for field trips of the missionary of that state, also.

IN ADDITION, surveys were made of the deep north-central region of Goias, in the very center of Brazil; and in the Sao Francisco river of Baia, a coastal state south of Fortaleza.

In the Goias survey another missionary and I visited 20 cities in an area that had required my companion four months to travel by mule train and truck some time before. It took us only four days by plane to accomplish as much if not more.

To many Brazilians, our ship has come to be known as a great bird of mercy. When the Jaquareibe river flooded the city of Aracati in May, 1950, we made several flights transporting doctors, nurses and governmental officials to the stricken area.

A man who had contracted tetanus in the interior of Brazil was flown by us to Fortaleza for medical attention. The body of an old lady was taken to her home town in the interior of the state for burial, and the body of a young

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK—Do you know the greatest feat of magic ever performed?

John J. McManus, a corporation attorney who owns the world's largest collection of magic apparatus, says you don't have to be a Houdini to perform it. Anybody can do it.

"The best magic trick I know of is to tell the truth," he said dryly. "You can fool more people that way than you can by telling lies."

McManus, former president of the Rolls Royce Company of America, knows far more about magic than most men who make it a career. He has assembled a library of 2,000 volumes on the occult and 3,000 props used by the great professional magicians of the past.

Part of his collection, valued at more than $100,000, will be shown at the National Antiques Show in Madison Square Garden next week.

It was employed by the American consul at Fortaleza to investigate the destruction of American property in a case of religious persecution in the south of Ceara; and it helped in the search for a wrecked B-25 from the Fortaleza Air Base.

The plane has been used to fly an engine and other replacement parts, and mechanics inland to repair planes which had been stranded for months because of difficulty in reaching them.

EVERYTHING'S settled, and this home of the free and land of the brave is prepared to go on to still greater heights. The public, presumably waiting with bated breath, now is given the big news and can relax. The 10 best-dressed men in the nation have been chosen and their names released.

As usual, the movies carried off the greater number of awards, although two of Mr. Truman's boys stand high on the list. Selections were made by the Fashion Foundation of America, and thus possess whatever aura of authenticity this fact denotes.

But in addition to making the awards, the foundation expresses perturbation over the fact men do not carry compacts, which would enable them to use a little powder to offset the 5 o'clock shadow and enhance their manly beauty.

No one will criticize a man for being well dressed. That is a state which is generally regarded as commendable. But it is doubtful that many men are ready for compacts. This nation was founded by men who never heard of compacts but who, in many instances, carried a plug of eatin' tobacco. And, in their hirsute glory 5 p.m. shadow was a term which was not to be coined for decades.

If their attire was simple, they wore it with dignity for all that, and they wore the collar of no man or government.

WORD OF WARNING

THOMAS R. REID, an official of the Ford Motor Company, says the average employee of American business does not understand the nation's economic system of which he is so vital a cog. He does not understand the principles of free enterprise, or how important it is that the welfare of his employer remain secure if his job is to be permanent. Reid says this lack of understanding is responsible for the nation's alarming drift toward socialism.

Many workers are being deluded by a synthetic prosperity which has come with increase in wages, while the very sources of those wages are being attacked by government regulations. Each year more and more of the profits which should go back into business and industry to provide increased production are being siphoned off by the government.

The final result of the present trend will be fewer jobs and less pay for the employed. The nation's prosperity is based on employment in free enterprise not dependent on government war contracts.

WASHINGTON, March 5 — A state-by-state survey of the Taft delegate strength by his inner board of strategy convinces them that their candidate now stands within 125 or 150 votes of the 605 or 603 which will be necessary for the Republican nomination for President at Chicago next July. Actually, they believe that they have more than 500 delegates as of today.

These reports from their regional representatives in New England, the Middle Atlantic, the South, the Middle West and the Far West are so optimistic that they may not be released.

They prefer to conceal the success of their hard-driving campaign from the Eisenhower camp. While rival politicos will accept these figures with many grains of salt, it is significant that there is a new air of confidence at the Ohio Senator's headquarters.

DISMAY — Besides this check-up, two other developments lead the Taft managers to maintain that his nomination is "in the bag" on the first ballot. The first is the Eisenhower promoters' dismay at word that the General will not return to campaign before the G.O.P. assembles on July 7.

The second is the growing skepticism, in London and Paris as well as at Washington, over the recent Lisbon agreement for building a European Defense

These Days

The motion picture industry is excited over the 1951 annual report of the House committee on un-American activities which calls attention to sustainable conclusions. The committee's report stated:

"...It is not the committee's purpose to destroy this investment. It must be remembered, however, that the American public also has an investment in Hollywood for, prior to the advent of television, the American public relied almost solely upon Hollywood motion pictures for visual, dramatic presentation.

"It must be realized that moving pictures have a tremendous emotional effect upon the audience which views them. The same is true of television shows. . . The committee hopes that its investigation of Hollywood will have a far-reaching effect and prevent a large-scale future Communist infiltration of the television industry. . ."

Two points of view have long existed in the motion picture industry:

1. That every disclosure of Communist activities in Hollywood hurts the industry. Therefore anyone who raises this issue is an enemy of the industry. In keeping with this concept, so-called Hollywood statesmen—that is, some lawyers, public relations counsel and front men for the industry—have opposed such organizations as the Motion Picture Alliance for the Preservation of American Ideals which since 1944 has actively been fighting the activities of the Communists in Hollywood.

The general industry attitude has been that the anti-Communists were a greater nuisance than the Communists. The Reds have taken full advantage of that.

The House committee on un-American activities calls attention to this undeniable fact:

"The need for remedial action was amply demonstrated when it was found that four Communist-front organizations, which had operated in the state of California, had received approximately $1 million from members of the Hollywood motion-picture industry. It had long been known that Hollywood was one of the principal sources of funds for the Communist Party of the United States."

2. Some companies have, on their own, cleaned house, often at considerable cost. It can be said that Republic, RKO, and Warner Brothers have done most to keep their studios clean. It is a tough job because Communists do not readily expose themselves and the best technique for their discovery is an unpleasant one, namely, the searching of records of activity and the assumption of guilt by association. The latter method of exposure is particularly unpalatable, even to violent anti-Communists, but it has been the net that has caught most of the fish.

Such companies as Paramount, Columbia, and Twentieth Century-Fox have, in recent months, been facing the issue practically, on the sound business assumption that pictures in which Communists or "Fronters" have been writers, producers, directors, actors encounter unusual sales resistance and therefore are defective products.

Community.

With the first primary in New Hampshire less than a week away, the hard-boiled Taft veterans insist that they "pulled the rug from under Ike's candidacy."

There is no gainsaying the fact that the military man's backers, professional and nonprofessional, are in a state of semi-panic. Indeed, some murmur that their hero has "let them down" by sticking to his post of duty.

HEARTENING — The most heartening development, in the opinion of the Taft men, is that they have broken into the delegate strength of General Eisenhower's supposed political stronghold. This consists of the Atlantic Seaboard area, extending from Maine to Delaware. It includes the states of Eisenhower's principal boosters, Governor Dewey of New York, Senators Lodge and Duff of Massachusetts and Pennsylvania.

In this ten-state sector, which will have approximately 326 delegates at Chicago, Taft picked up only thirty-three delegates in 1948. It was almost wholly Dewey territory. His statisticians now give him about 105 delegates, maintaining that they will get fifteen in New York, fifteen in New Jersey and thirty-five at least in Pennsylvania.

Taft's only sizable bloc in this section in 1948 were twenty-eight Pennsylvania supporters on the first ballot. He got only one in New York and none in New Jersey.

GAIN — In the South and the border states of Maryland, Tennessee, Kentucky and Oklahoma, Taft rounded up only ninety delegates four years ago, with Texas contributing the biggest batch of thirty.

Under the leadership of former Representative and National Chairman Carroll Reece of Tennessee, this area is now counted on for about 163 delegates, or a gain of seventy-three. Although General Eisenhower is popular here, practical politicians refuse to sign up behind a candidate whose beliefs and intentions must remain unknown.

The Middle West and the farm states also register a tremendous advance for the Ohioan, according to this canvass. In 1948, Taft collected only 99 delegates from this section, with Ohio and Illinois providing the bulk of ninety-four. His current total is placed at 213, or an increase in four years of 114.

IMPORTANT — The Far West and the Southwest register smaller boosts in Taft strength, but they are still important in piling up the total. This territory, which will have an estimated 212 delegates, was mainly Warren, Dewey and Stassen pasture.

Taft squeaked through with only twenty-five supporters. His canvassers now place his minimum at seventy-eight, although they credit him with no strength in California, Oregon and Washington.

It is possible that General Eisenhower could make a dent in these figures, if he took off his uniform and took to the stump. Governor Warren of California may make some headway, and General MacArthur could undoubtedly round up a generous total, if he were willing to make the effort.

But the Californian received only six votes in addition to California's in 1948, indicating that he has not much nationwide appeal.

FORESIGHTED — As a matter of fact, the foresighted Taftites are beginning to look around for possible vice-presidential running-mates. While they cannot afford to antagonize important figures by showing any favoritism, the two obvious choices appear to be Governor Warren or Governor Alfred E. Driscoll of New Jersey.

Even more than General Eisenhower, they are identified with the progressive wing of the G.O.P. They have been good vote-getters in their states. Both have appealing personalities. Nor will it hurt them, provided they don't carry it too far between now and convention time, that they are understood to prefer Eisenhower to the Ohio Senator.

An Examination Especially Important To The Middle-Aged

By HERMAN H. BUNDESEN, M.D.

Testing with an instrument known as a proctoscope.

This is indeed foolish vanity or fear on their part. More people should expect a rectal inspection as part of any thorough physical examination, for this is the only way to discover many cancers at their first appearance.

Early Discovery Important

It has been proved that when tumors or cancers of this part are discovered early and treated quickly, many are cured, and lives of many people prolonged. In addition, an inspection of the lower bowel can detect lesions that may be expected to develop into cancers. By treating or removing these growths, the doctor can head off the cancer before it appears.

Common Type of Cancer

We can realize the importance of this by recalling that the commonest type of cancer found in women is the second commonest in men. The rectum is high on the list of danger spots for possible cancer.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Q. E. C. D.: What would cause numbness in my fingers?

A: Numbness in the fingers may be caused by either a disorder of the nerves or blood vessels of the hands. The exact cause can only be determined by a physician after he has made a careful examination.

MOST PEOPLE SUFFERING FROM RECTAL BLEEDING OR DISCOMFORT DO NOT OBJECT TO EXTENSIVE X-RAYS OF THE BOWELS AND INTESTINES, WHICH ARE DEFINITELY REQUIRED WHEN THESE SYMPTOMS ARE PRESENT. MANY, HOWEVER, HESITATE AND DELAY AT THE THOUGHT OF HAVING A RECTAL EXAMINATION, OR AN EXAMINATION OF THE RECTUM AND THE LOWER INTESTINE WITH AN INSTRUMENT KNOWN AS A PROCTOSCOPE.

These reports from their regional representatives in New England, the Middle Atlantic, the South, the Middle West and the Far West are so optimistic that they may not be released.

They prefer to conceal the success of their hard-driving campaign from the Eisenhower camp. While rival politicos will accept these figures with many grains of salt, it is significant that there is a new air of confidence at the Ohio Senator's headquarters.

DISMAY — Besides this check-up, two other developments lead the Taft managers to maintain that his nomination is "in the bag" on the first ballot. The first is the Eisenhower promoters' dismay at word that the General will not return to campaign before the G.O.P. assemblies on July 7.

The second is the growing skepticism, in London and Paris as well as at Washington, over the recent Lisbon agreement for building a European Defense in this ten-state sector, which will have approximately 326 delegates at Chicago, Taft picked up only thirty-three delegates in 1948. It was almost wholly Dewey territory. His statisticians now give him about 105 delegates, maintaining that they will get fifteen in New York, fifteen in New Jersey and thirty-five in Pennsylvania.

Taft squeaked through with only twenty-five supporters. His

An Examination Especially Important To The Middle-Aged

By HERMAN H. BUNDESEN, M.D.

ONE of the commonest of all cancers, cancer of the rectum, can be detected by physician who makes a direct examination as part of any thorough physical examination, for this is the only way to discover many cancers at their first appearance.

It is important to overcome any reluctance toward having this type of examination made. Such examinations are particularly important for all persons of middle age or older and, of course, whenever any symptoms indicating disturbances of the rectum appear, such as constipation, diarrhea, or the passage of blood.

Eighty per cent of cancers of the large intestine occur either in the rectum, which is the last part of the intestine, or in the portion of bowel just above the rectum.

Common Type of Cancer

We can realize the importance of this by recalling that cancer of the large intestine is the fourth commonest type of cancer found in women, and the second commonest in men. The rectum is thus high on the list of danger spots for possible cancer.

Most people suffering from rectal bleeding or discomfort do not object to extensive X-rays of the bowels and intestines, which are definitely required when these symptoms are present. Many, however, hesitate and delay at the thought of having a rectal examination, or an examination of the rectum and the lower intestine with an instrument known as a proctoscope.

This is indeed foolish vanity or fear on their part. More people should expect a rectal inspection as part of any thorough physical examination, for this is the only way to discover many cancers at their first appearance.

Early Discovery Important

It has been proved that when tumors or cancers of this part are discovered early and treated quickly, many are cured, and lives of many people prolonged. In addition, an inspection of the lower bowel can detect lesions that may be expected to develop into cancers. By treating or removing these growths, the doctor can head off the cancer before it appears.

Common Type of Cancer

We can realize the importance of this by recalling that cancer of the large intestine is the fourth commonest type of cancer found in women, and the second commonest in men. The rectum is thus high on the list of danger spots for possible cancer.

FIVE YEARS AGO

Norbert Cochran was presented with the Silver Beaver Award, the highest honor given to volunteer leaders of Boy Scouts of America.

Mrs. Eleanor Smalley, a former resident, will leave for Manila to join her husband who is stationed there.

Mrs. Charles Niles was the speaker at a meeting of Von Bora Society.

TEN YEARS AGO

Philos Lodge, Knights of Pythias, gave knight rank to six candidates at a special meeting in Pythian Castle.

Supplies for Pickaway County's sugar rationing program have been received at the Courthouse.

Barton Deming was nominated to succeed Tom Renick as exalted ruler of Elks Lodge.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

President Cal Coolidge today approved an appropriation of $450,000 to begin work on three new cruisers to match naval building abroad.

Misses Helen Marion and Eleanor Snyder, Mrs. Frank J. Bennett, Mrs. Clark Will, Mrs. W. F. Heffner, Mrs. Clark Hunsicker, Mrs. James Moffitt and Joseph Burns, accompanied by Miss Abbe Mills Clarke, will go to Chillicothe where they will sing at Camp Sherman.

D. E. Phillips and family have moved from their farm near Millport to the Harry Baker residence.

It is possible that General Eisenhower could make a dent in these figures, if he took off his uniform and took to the stump. Governor Warren of California may make some headway, and General MacArthur could undoubtedly round up a generous total, if he were willing to make the effort.

But the Californian received only six votes in addition to California's in 1948, indicating that he has not much nationwide appeal.

FORESEEING — As a matter of fact, the foresighted Taftites are beginning to look around for possible vice-presidential running-mates. While they cannot afford to antagonize important figures by showing any favoritism, the two obvious choices appear to be Governor Warren or Governor Alfred E. Driscoll of New Jersey.

Even more than General Eisenhower, they are identified with the progressive wing of the G.O.P. They have been good vote-getters in their states. Both have appealing personalities. Nor will it hurt them, provided they don't carry it too far between now and convention time, that they are understood to prefer Eisenhower to the Ohio Senator.

IMPORTANT — The Far West and the Southwest register smaller boosts in Taft strength, but they are still important in pinning up the total. This territory, which will have an estimated 212 delegates, was mainly Warren, Dewey and Stassen pasture.

Taft squeaked through with only twenty-five supporters. His first ballot. He got only one in New York and none in New Jersey.

GAIN — In the South and the border states of Maryland, Tennessee, Kentucky and Oklahoma, Taft rounded up only ninety delegates four years ago, with Texas contributing the biggest batch of thirty.

Under the leadership of former Representative and National Chairman Carroll Reed of Tennessee, this area is now counted on for about 163 delegates, or a gain of seventy-three. Although General Eisenhower is popular here, practical politicians refuse to sign up behind a candidate whose beliefs and intentions must remain unknown.

The Middle West and the farm states also register a tremendous advance for the Ohioan, according to this canvass. In 1948, Taft collected only 99 delegates from this section, with Ohio and Illinois providing the bulk of ninety-four. His current total is placed at 213, or an increase in four years of 114.

CHAPTER TWENTY-TWO
IT WAS nearly five when Liddell heard a key being fitted into the lock. The door swung open and the blonde stood in the doorway. Behind her stood Lunfar!

Liddell's hand streaked for the .45, lost the race. Lunfar covered him with a .38 that looked the size of a cannon. He pushed the girl in front of him, closed the door.

"What kind of a double cross is this?" he growled.

The color had drained from the girl's face, leaving her make-up as blotchy patches against the pallor. "It's no double cross, Dom," her husky voice quavered. "He's just a guy—a guy I met at the place. He's just . . ."

Mrs. George Haswell Gives Paper At Club

Mrs. George Haswell presented the paper, "South of the Border," to members of the Monday Club, when the group met Monday evening in the Trustees Room of Memorial Hall.

Mrs. Haswell stated that the United States of Mexico is a land of contrasts in scenery, climate, architecture, people, costumes and customs.

There are cool, high plateaus and low coasts with silvery sands, towering mountains with icy snow, Spanish colonial cities and Indian villages, ruins of ancient civilizations and new streamlined construction and pine forests and banana groves. Side by side you will find buildings left by the conquerors and skyscrapers and movie studios.

The United States of Mexico is a Federal Republic, divided into thirty-two administrative divisions, including the Federal District. The or Main Plaza, the Public Square, the National Museum, the Palace of Fine Arts, the House of Tiles, dating back to 1596.

Mrs. Haswell mentioned many other places of interest in Mexico and gave extensive information on its colorful background.

Mrs. Edwin Shane, president, presided at the short business meeting, during which Mrs. Richard Robinson was accepted as a new member.

Mrs. Anna Chandler read the report on resolutions drawn up for the late Mrs. Howard Jones. Her committee consisted of Mrs. R. R. Bales and Mrs. Hulse Hays.

Plans were announced for a social session and dinner to be held at the March meeting, at the Presbyterian church.

HOLLYWOOD—The Oscar Derby is in its final lap. Who'll win? Well, we won't know until March 20 when the awards are given at Hollywood Boulevard's Pantages Theater.

This year's race is a good one. There were many good films and performances. Sorry if you disagree. But you (and I) have no say in the choice of winners.

As a matter of fact, only a minority of the film industry has much to say about the final choices.

Members of the Academy of Motion Pictures Arts and Sciences are the voters for the winners. They number approximately 1,900. There are close to 20,000 people working in the film industry.

The Academy, you see, is a rather elite group. Memberships are by invitation only. Two members invite you to join and acceptance must be made by the entire group. Of the total membership 250 are actors. Executives and artisans representing all phases of motion picture making fill in the remaining 1,500 members.

It is impossible for a studio to control the voting. No one studio has a majority of memberships. With the constant shifting of employment by film workers, this situation is guaranteed. In other words, the whole thing is on the up and up.

Nominations for Oscars are also limited. For example: the four acting classifications (best actor-actress, best supporting actor-actress) are nominated in groups of five by the actor's branch of the Academy, plus all senior members of the Screen Actors Guild (who number 9,000). The final balloting, however, is by Academy members only.

Nominations and final voting for the best film of the year is made by Academy members.

Nominations for best director and writer are made by the directors and writers branch of the Academy plus Screen Directors Guild and Screen Writers Guild membership, respectively. Final voting again is by Academy members.

The many scientific and technical awards are made by 15 technicians representative of all such fields. This group of men is chosen by the Academy board of governors.

The Thalberg Award, a sort of "man of the year in film industry," one of the most coveted of Oscars, is voted by the board of governors. This last award is often missing at Academy time.

This is Hollywood's biggest event.

The most seasoned performers turn out to be rank amateurs at extemporaneous speaking when they clutch the little gold statuette.

A total of $42,000 is spent by the industry in the physical set-up for Oscar time. This is peanuts for the studios figure the affair is worth millions box office-wise for the industry. And the best film or acting brings in additional millions for that specific film.

Any movie shown to the public in Los Angeles for seven days in 1951 is automatically eligible for the awards. Four hundred and eighty-four motion pictures made it in the past year. All performers in these films thus are eligible for their classification of Oscars.

Studios do not "enter" or submit pictures or players for an award, cautions Charlie Brackett, president of the Academy.

Now for the crystal ball.

Who's gonna win? I don't stick my neck out too far and pick the winner—but here's a group which should certainly contain the choices:

Best Film: A Streetcar Named Desire, An American in Paris, A Place in the Sun, The Blue Veil, Bright Victory.

Best Actress: Vivien Leigh (Streetcar), Shelly Winters (Sun), Jane Wyman (Veil), Katharine Hepburn (African Queen).

Best Supporting Actor: Peter Ustinov and Leo Genn (Quo Vadis), Kevin McCarthy (Salesman), Joseph Wiseman (Detective Story), and Oskar Werner (Decision Before Dawn).

make him feel small and inferior?

When there are guests and he engages one of them in conversation, how do we feel and act? Are we fearful lest he might say the wrong thing and innocently speak a truth embarrassing to us? Are we then for a continuous period of half a minute to sit wholly relaxed, breathe naturally and have no strange feelings creeping over our faces?

This powerful urge in adolescence, with its drive for independence and for freedom, is why so many parents grow prematurely gray and wrinkled. To the average youth in his early teens, his parents seem to be the biggest barrier to his independence.

Now we parents with so much more experience feel intensely our responsibility for maintaining some control of the youth, for limiting his independence somewhat in the interest of his physical and moral protection. In this general purpose we usually are right. But in our efforts to fulfill this purpose we tend to hamper the youth in ever so many ways not at all essential or even related directly to his physical and moral safety.

LET US CONSIDER how we parents tend to hamper his growth in independence in the way we act toward him as a person at the dinner table, about the home and elsewhere; when he shares in the family conversation, expressing his opinions, especially when they run counter to our own; how we look, move and breathe or speak to him or about him when guests are present, adult ones or those of his age. Do we make him feel comfortable then, feel he is treated as of his age, feel himself a worthy member of the family group?

Do we in the private circles of the family go woolgathering when he speaks, treat his efforts at humor as just silly and his opinions as absurd and tell him so? Do we take a very superior attitude toward him, lord it over him, and try (unawares) to companionable with her?

Q. When a widower marries a mother of growing children may it be wise for him to adopt her children legally?

A. As a rule, yes. It can prevent legal complications. Also, when the children take on his family name, they feel more nearly as belonging to the new family set-up.

Child Problems and Solutions

By GARRY CLEVELAND MYERS, PhD

Very early in the child's life he begins to wish he were bigger and older. Ask him at five how old he is and he says he is going on six. At ten he is going on eleven, at twelve he is going on thirteen. As he approaches or enters his teens he is especially eager to grow up and to have others treat him as growing up. About his greatest dread is that someone might suppose that he is younger than he really is.

This powerful urge in adolescence, with its drive for independence and for freedom, is why so many parents grow prematurely gray and wrinkled. To the average youth in his early teens, his parents seem to be the biggest barrier to his independence.

Now we parents with so much more experience feel intensely our responsibility for maintaining some control of the youth, for limiting his independence somewhat in the interest of his physical and moral protection. ANSWERING PARENTS' QUESTIONS

Q. Our daughter, 13, often wants me to spell words for her when she does written work at home, but I tell her to look them up in the dictionary. Is this a good way?

A. No; it's often very difficult to find in the dictionary a word one cannot spell. This searching may cause her so much trouble that she will choose rather to guess. Besides, you miss a rare opportunity to prove your interest in her school work and be companionable with her.

Q. When a widower marries a mother of growing children may it be wise for him to adopt their children legally?

A. As a rule, yes. It can prevent legal complications. Also, when the children take on his family name, they feel more nearly as belonging to the new family set-up.

NEW TROJAN HORSE IS REDKremlin Rigs Labor In Latest Program

Editor's Note: As the story goes, Greek warriors hid in the figure of a colossal horse and got through the walls into ancient Troy. When darkness fell, the warriors came out of their "Trojan horse" and let the Greek army into the city. Today Communism has evolved the skeleton of a new Trojan horse—in Europe. It is being built up for Moscow's use as the Kremlin needs it. William L. Ryan, Associated Press foreign news analyst who is touring areas adjacent to the Iron Curtain, tells about it in a revealing series of articles of which this is the first.

By WILLIAM L. RYAN

VIENNA—A danger signal is going up over Western Europe today. It is not a war alarm. It is a warning against a Stalinist Trojan horse.

A mighty Fifth Column is being organized with utmost care to serve Kremlin imperialism. It is a long-range program. Diagrammed, this Trojan horse would have its belly in Central Europe, and its feet reaching out in many directions—to Europe, to Italy, to Western Germany, to Greece, the Middle East.

Non-Communists, including many Americans in official capacity, say the Fifth Column has reached proportions of alarm and is still building—carefully.

THE SOVIETS have a chain of command running from the Kremlin through the Cominform and into a tight organization with headquarters in Vienna.

The overall brain of the Cominform (Communist information organization, essentially a successor to the Comintern) is Georgi Malenkov. He is one of Stalin's deputies and possibly his heir. Malenkov's chief lieutenant is Mikhail A. Suslov, one of the secretaries of the USSR Communist Central Committee. The general staff for Europe includes Palmiro Togliatti in Italy, Jacques Duclos in France and Walter Ulbricht in East Germany.

Soon the world will be hearing a new slogan from the east: "Unity Of Action." Coupled with this will be the cry: "National Resistance."

This already is being applied to the Middle East, but it is also to be applied to Italy and France and perhaps to Western Germany. Its central theme will be "resistance" to the United States.

The "Unity Of Action" campaign

Kiwanis Club Rehearses For Minstrel Show

Circleville Kiwanians Monday polished up their program for their annual minstrel show, to be staged Thursday and Friday nights in Circleville high school auditorium.

During Monday's session, Kiwanian Karl Johnson was presented with an award for having attended nine years without a miss.

Dr. Lloyd Sprouse, ex-tenant governor for the Kiwanis Club, will receive an award for two years of perfect attendance during next Monday night's meeting.

Next Monday's meeting also will feature the talents of Lynn Ballard, formerly of Salter Creek Township. Ballard, now with a television station in Columbus, is to sing and talk to the local clubmen during the meeting.

The meeting will be observed as "appreciation night" for everyone who assists the Kiwanis Clubbers with their minstrel program.

is to be directed largely at labor in Western Europe. The "National Resistance" will play upon nationalist sentiments, using former Fascists, Nazis and any others who are opportunists enough or unwary enough to cooperate. The Communists will remain in the background.

THE BURDEN of "Unity of Action" will be benefits for labor. Everything that Labor considers ideal, everything that is out of Labor's reach, at least in present-day Europe, will be promoted by the campaign.

The immediate aim will be to lure workers into unions controlled by the Communists, with strong emphasis upon the strategic areas—metal workers, communication workers, transportation workers, agricultural workers. When domination is achieved the Communists will have a powerful weapon for inducing paralysis whenever they strike.

The Communist-dominated unions, meanwhile, will be used for other Soviet purposes: Nagging pressure upon governments for an end to defense efforts, an end to the remilitarization of Western Germany, resumption of East-West trade on terms favorable to the Soviet Union.

At the same time the Unions, coordinating with other Communist-supported organizations, will be an instrument for spreading unrest and for slowing down wherever possible the western defense effort.

Vienna, divided among four occupation powers, is wide open from the east for the influx of Soviet "experts," and from the west for Stalinist collaborators. One of the most important Communist outfits here is the World Federation of Trade Unions (WFTU).

AFFILIATED with this are many Communist-dominated unions which may be recognized by the names: International Federation of Trade Unions of Metal Workers, International Federation of Trade Unions of this and that industry.

The unions are organized with varying degrees of power, from weak and ineffective to strong and potentially dangerous in many key industries. In France and Italy the Communist-dominated unions are strong. In Western Germany and Austria, these unions are weak, but still are potentially dangerous if only for their weapon of harassment.

Tomorrow—WFTU, the transmission belt.

Morris Church Quartet Wins Talent Show

"Happy Four" quartet of Morris EUB church won first place honors Monday night during a "Talent Tournament" program in Circleville high school auditorium.

The "Happy Four," consisting of Lorna Holbrook, Carol England, Barbara England and Ray Strawser, won the top award with a presentation of "Just A Little Talk With Jesus."

Winning second place in the "tourney," sponsored by Circleville Booster Club, was Paul Grafis Jr. of Circleville, who presented a vocal solo.

Third place was won by Gary Dean of Circleville with a song-and-dance routine, while Lee Ann Noggle and Sally Young won fourth-place honors with an ac-cordian duet.

The "Happy Four" quartet, which has been singing together since last November, will be heard at 5:05 p.m. Sunday over station WCKY, Cincinnati.

In ADDITION, the second, third and fourth place acts will be heard over the radio station beginning at 5:15 p.m. Saturday.

"Happy Four" quartet will be seeking honors in a continuing talent test conducted by the station.

Votes cast for the local group may advance it high into the eventual championship round.

NEW TROJAN HORSE IS REDKremlin Rigs Labor In Latest Program

Editor's Note: As the story goes, Greek warriors hid in the figure of a colossal horse and got through the walls into ancient Troy. When darkness fell, the warriors came out of their "Trojan horse" and let the Greek army into the city. Today Communism has evolved the skeleton of a new Trojan horse—in Europe. It is being built up for Moscow's use as the Kremlin needs it. William L. Ryan, Associated Press foreign news analyst who is touring areas adjacent to the Iron Curtain, tells about it in a revealing series of articles of which this is the first.

By WILLIAM L. RYAN

VIENNA—A danger signal is going up over Western Europe today. It is not a war alarm. It is a warning against a Stalinist Trojan horse.

A mighty Fifth Column is being organized with utmost care to serve Kremlin imperialism. It is a long-range program. Diagrammed, this Trojan horse would have its belly in Central Europe, and its feet reaching out in many directions—to Europe, to Italy, to Western Germany, to Greece, the Middle East.

Non-Communists, including many Americans in official capacity, say the Fifth Column has reached proportions of alarm and is still building—carefully.

THE SOVIETS have a chain of command running from the Kremlin through the Cominform and into a tight organization with headquarters in Vienna.

The overall brain of the Cominform (Communist information organization, essentially a successor to the Comintern) is Georgi Malenkov. He is one of Stalin's deputies and possibly his heir. Malenkov's chief lieutenant is Mikhail A. Suslov, one of the secretaries of the USSR Communist Central Committee. The general staff for Europe includes Palmiro Togliatti in Italy, Jacques Duclos in France and Walther Ulbricht in East Germany.

Soon the world will be hearing a new slogan from the east: "Unity Of Action." Coupled with this will be the cry: "National Resistance."

This already is being applied to the Middle East, but it is also to be applied to Italy and France and perhaps to Western Germany. Its central theme will be "resistance" to the United States.

The "Unity of Action" campaign

Postal Card Cost Gimmick Voided

WASHINGTON, March 4—A short-lived law which made the 50-cent postal card purchased cost 12 instead of two cents has been signed to the wastebasket by Congress.

Without a dissenting vote, the House passed a bill previously approved by the Senate repealing a 10 per cent surcharge on government postal cards purchased in lots of 50 or more.

FACTS ABOUT MONEY!

THE FIRST "COPPERS"

The first American copper coins were minted in Connecticut in 1737 and made from copper mined in Granby. This private coinage, issued by John Higley of Granby, was called the "Higley" or "Granby" token and carried the legends, "Value Me As You Please" on one side, with "I Am Good Copper" on the other.

Morris Church Quartet Wins Talent Show

"Happy Four" quartet of Morris EUB church won first place honor Monday night during a "Talent Tournament" program in Circleville high school auditorium.

The "Happy Four," consisting of Lorna Holbrook, Carol England, Barbara England and Ray Strawser, won the top award with a presentation of "Just A Little Talk With Jesus."

Winning second place in the "tourney," sponsored by Circleville Booster Club, was Paul Grafis Jr. of Circleville, who presented a vocal solo.

Third place was won by Gary Dean of Circleville with a song-and-dance routine, while Lee Ann Noggle and Sally Young won fourth-place honors with an acordian duet.

The "Happy Four" quartet, which has been singing together since last November, will be heard at 5:05 p.m. Sunday over station WCKY, Cincinnati.

IN ADDITION, the second, third and fourth place acts will be heard over the radio station beginning at 5:15 p.m. Saturday.

"Happy Four" quartet will be seeking honors in a continuing talent test conducted by the station. Votes cast for the local group may advance it high into the eventual championship round.

49½ Million Dollars!

For 1951, the Norfolk and Western paid approximately $49½ million in taxes.

pour any part of those hard-earned tax dollars down the drain of waste.

This is enough money to pay the annual cost of educating 326,666 public school students in the six states served by the Norfolk and Western . . . and a goodly part of it goes for that purpose.

EVERY PENNY PAID IN TAXES IS MONEY THAT BELONGS TO THE PEOPLE—TO YOU, THE PEOPLE WHO SPEND IT WORK FOR YOU. DON'T LET GOVERNMENT WASTE THAT MONEY ANY MORE THAN YOUD LET ANY ONE ELSE WASTE YOUR MONEY.

It also is enough to maintain a police force for a city of approximately 100,000 for 104 years . . .

. . . or build 110 modern libraries for cities that size . . .
. . . or pay the salaries and expense allowances of the President of the United States, our 96 Senators and 435 Congressmen for more than five years.

Forty-nine and one-half million dollars will buy a lot of public service.

There's a way to put a stop to government wasteful spending—which today is greater than any time in the history of this country. That way is for the citizens to demand, through their elected representatives, that the people who work for us in government spend our money just as honorably and intelligently as they would spend their own money if they were in our shoes, working to make those tax dollars possible.

Free enterprise has been good to the Norfolk and Western. Our business comes from the people, and all intelligent business wants to live up to its responsibility to pay its just share of the cost of government and public service. But like any other intelligent business or individual, the Norfolk and Western does not want to see government

85 Class B, 68 Class A Teams Still In Running

COLUMBUS, March 4.—The inevitable upsets are beginning to pop up in Ohio's high school basketball district tournaments.

Three unexpected results featured Monday night's abbreviated program, and more are expected in Tuesday's 28-game slate which calls for a dozen Class A contests and 16 in Class B.

Youngstown Woodrow Wilson came up with Monday night's classic. Wilson, boasting a 2-16 record, ran into Niles with a 17-2 mark in the Youngstown feature, and the underdogs came up with a 44-42 overtime win.

Chancery-Dover, beaten but once in 17 games, was victimized 78-75 by Crooksville in Athens in Class B. The winners had triumphed in only 11 of 21 previous games.

Another upset was Zanesville Rosecrans' 66-64 overtime win over Old Washington. The losers had a 23-3 record, the winners 14-6.

Glenford, the 1941 Class B king, also bowed out of the running in Athens. Corning, the victors, ran their season's mark to 23-1.

FIVE FORMER Class B state champs, and a dozen Class A ex-kings are still in the fight, but most of them are due to fall as the field is narrowed to 16 in each class by Saturday night. After Monday night's frays, the 865 Class B squads had been cut to 85, and the 251 Class A quintets had dwindled to 68.

Among the casualties Monday night was the state's No. 1 scorer, Robin Freeman of Cincinnati Hughes. The scoring star was held to 26 points as Hughes dropped a 73-49 verdict to Cincinnati Roger Bacon, but he wound up with 790 points for a season's average of 39.5.

MILLER CITY, voted the No. 1 team in the state in the final Associated Press Class B poll, rolled on toward the title by handing Grover Hill a 58-37 lacing in Defiance.

It was the 23rd win in 24 starts for the Mighty Midgets who won the 1950 crown.

Here are Monday night's results and Tuesday night's schedule.

Circleville's Annual Cooking School To Begin March 25

Three-Day Adventure Is Planned

1952 Institute To Be Based On 'Savings' Theme

Circleville's annual cooking school, the Gasco Institute, will begin here March 25 in Circleville Memorial Hall.

The three-day adventure in cooking for the women of Circleville and Pickaway County this year will be based upon the theme "three-way savings."

This year's cooking school is the third annual presentation here, sponsored jointly by the Ohio Fuel Gas Co., The Circleville Herald and a number of local merchants.

Recipes and meal-planning ideas will emphasize important financial savings made possible—even in a period of high living costs—by wise selection and efficient preparation of low-cost foods.

Easy ways homemakers can save time and money by cooking techniques made possible through the use of modern automatic gas appliances, will be demonstrated.

SESSIONS WILL be held in Memorial Hall at 8 p. m. each evening.

The all-new cooking school is to have the same "food and fun" flavor featured last year.

Stage techniques, including tilting "magic" mirrors and throat microphones, as well as other show effects which proved popular in past showings, will be used again.

The stage setting is a new, model all-gas kitchen designed in a "sunny terrace" motif.

Conducting the food show will be Mrs. Enid Parrett Barthelmas, institute "leading lady" and lecturer for the third straight year. Fred Barthelmas who has also been institute manager during the past three years shares top billing in cooking school performances.

The husband-and-wife team were married at the close of last year's institute tour. Fred serves alternately as "hero" and "heavy" in his appearances on stage.

Dan McClain, who is in charge of Ohio Fuel's office here, and Mrs. Shirley Burns, local "Betty Newton" for the gas company, will also assist in the showings.

Slug-Maker Held

CINCINNATI, March 4 — (P—A) William H. Sparks, 49, pleaded guilty Monday to making 25-cent and nickel slugs. U. S. Commissioner J. Paul Geoghegan ordered him held under $1,000 bond.

Drained canned snap beans make a delicious dinner salad when they are marinated in a tangy French dressing. They're good, this way, with hamburgers.

THIS IS THE FORTRESS-LIKE Reno, Nev., home of multimillionaire LaVerne V. Redfield, where burglars made what is perhaps the biggest haul in history. The robbers, after tossing a ham bone to the watchdog, carted off a heavy safe that contained $2,500,000 in cash, jewelry and negotiable securities. A suitcase containing another million dollars worth of securities went untouched. Redfield has failed to reveal why he kept the huge fortune around the house. (International)

Lambing Ewes May Fall Prey To 'Ketosis'

Your best ewes—the ones which will produce the biggest lambs or twin lambs—may be the most susceptible to ketosis or pregnancy disease.

Larry Best, Pickaway County extension agent, said: "The fact that a ewe is developing twin lambs or even a single large lamb may not allow her enough stomach space to get all her needs from hay."

Unless a ewe gets enough carbohydrates in her feed, she uses too much of her body fat and develops disease.

Lest explained that too little carbohydrates to meet a ewe's energy needs during development of unborn lambs results in the accumulation of products which are toxic to ewes. The toxics are normal products of fat and are called ketone bodies.

Ketosis, or pregnancy disease, is largely a problem of feeding and management. It occurs during the fourth or fifth month of pregnancy. Ewes first appear sleepy, walk with an unsteady gait, become paralyzed and then lie with their heads bent back.

BEST SAFEGUARD is to feed liberal amounts of good legume hay and a quarter pound of grain daily, beginning eight weeks before lambing. Best said to increase the grain ration to one pound per day.

Hereford Group Plans To Seek New Members

Pickaway County Hereford Breeders Association met recently in the home of Harold Strous, Laurelvile Route 1, for a basket dinner.

Business of the meeting consisted of plans for a membership campaign to enroll new breeders with registered Hereford stock and to plan for the 1952 Pickaway County Fair.

The Fair plans call for contacting outside breeders to prepare a special separate show for horned and polled Herefords.

In addition, the Association continued discussion of plans for a breeders' tour this Summer.

Two members of the local group reported purchases of new blooded stock during the meeting. They were J. B. Stevenson of Circleville and A. E. Weidner of Lancaster.

Next meeting of the group will be in early April in the Stevenson home.

Friends Complete Youth's Project

NEW CARLISLE, March 4 — (P—A) The Church of the Brethren sent a $300 Holstein heifer to Europe Tuesday as a gift from the late Paul W. Funderburg, a 17-year-old Clark County farm boy.

Paul died of influenza before he could raise a heifer to give to the church's relief program. His schoolmates, neighbors and friends contributed $256 and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Glen Funderburg, added $44 from Paul's savings to buy a heifer to give in the youth's name.

A front-opening dishwasher is a wise choice for a kitchen that hasn't much counter space because the top of it may be utilized.

four weeks before lambing and to continue until after lambing. Ratio of hay to grain one month before lambing is two to one.

The county agent recommended a ration of 30 pounds of corn, 20 pounds of oats, 10 pounds of wheat bran and 10 pounds of soybean meal plus salts and minerals, self fed.

"A moderate amount of exercise always is desirable," he added.

STOPPING TO DELIVER a note to a passing jeep in Washington is the tiny new XH-40 helicopter, just announced by the Army. Designed for evacuation as well as observation, the pygmy 'copter can be carried and dropped from a plane. It can be unpacked and made ready for the air in 20 minutes and carry two men. It is powered by two 16-pound pulse jet engines and has a top speed of 80 miles an hour. (International)

GE To Dedicate New Jet Plant

CINCINNATI, March 4 — (P—A) A host of VIPs will be invited to the dedication at Lockheed this month of the jet engine center which the General Electric Co. is building there.

C. W. Lapierre, general manager of the GE aircraft gas turbine division, said the dedication will be held March 18 and 19, in commemoration of "the fastest 10 years in aviation history." Top military and defense production officials and

Old Shep Proves To Be Very Mild

CLEVELAND, March 4 — (P—A) A German shepherd dog appeared as a defense witness in the second degree murder trial of John R. Harris.

Harris, 47, contends he fatally stabbed Samuel R. Reed, 56, while defending himself against Reed, Reed's blind wife, Ida, and the dog.

The dog, called "vicious" by the defense, behaved decorously in court Monday, at one point putting his paws on the jury box and accepting a piece of candy from a woman juror.

To make a quick supper dish mix cooked macaroni, flaked tuna fish, and grated onion, with a medium cream sauce. Pile into a casserole, top with buttered crumbs, and heat in a moderate oven.

Poll Boss Named
BATAVIA, March 4 — (P—E) Myers, Williamsburg Democrat, is new chairman of the Clermont County Board of Elections. The board named Myers at a reorganization meeting Monday to succeed Homer Ashton, Republican, also of Williamsburg.

Circleville's Annual Cooking School To Begin March 25

Three-Day Adventure Is Planned

1952 Institute To Be Based On 'Savings' Theme

Circleville's annual cooking school, the Gasco Institute, will begin here March 25 in Circleville Memorial Hall.

The three-day adventure in cooking for the women of Circleville and Pickaway County this year will be based upon the theme "three-way savings."

This year's cooking school is the third annual presentation here, sponsored jointly by the Ohio Fuel Gas Co., The Circleville Herald and a number of local merchants. Recipes and meal-planning ideas will emphasize important financial savings made possible—even in a period of high living costs—by wise selection and efficient preparation of low-cost foods.

Easy ways homemakers can save time and money by cooking techniques made possible through the use of modern automatic gas appliances, will be demonstrated.

SESSIONS WILL be held in Memorial Hall at 8 p.m. each evening.

The all-new cooking school is to have the same "food and fun" flavor featured last year.

Stage techniques, including tilting "magic" mirrors and throat microphones, as well as other show effects which proved popular in past showings, will be used again.

The stage setting is a new, modern all-gas kitchen designed in a "sunny terrace" motif.

Conducting the food show will be Mrs. Enid Parrett Barthelmas, institute "leading lady" and lecturer for the third straight year. Fred Barthelmas who has also been institute manager during the past three years shares top billing in cooking school performances.

The husband-and-wife team were married at the close of last year's institute tour. Fred serves alternately as "hero" and "heavy" in his appearances on stage.

Dan McClain, who is in charge of Ohio Fuel's office here, and Mrs. Shirley Burns, local "Betty Newtron" for the gas company, will also assist in the showings.

Slug-Maker Held

CINCINNATI, March 4.—(P)—William H. Sparks, 49, pleaded guilty Monday to making 25-cent and nickel slugs. U. S. Commissioner J. Paul Geoghegan ordered him held under $1,000 bond.

Drained canned snap beans make a delicious dinner salad when they are marinated in a tangy French dressing. They're good, this way, with hamburgers.

THIS IS THE FORTRESS-LIKE Reno, Nev., home of multimillionaire Lavonne V. Redfield, where burglars made what is perhaps the biggest haul in history. The robbers, after tossing a ham bone to the watchdog, carted off a heavy safe that contained $2,500,000 in cash, jewelry and negotiable securities. A suitcase containing another million dollars worth of securities went untouched. Redfield has failed to reveal why he kept the huge fortune around the house. (International)

Lambing Ewes May Fall Prey To 'Ketosis'

Your best ewes—the ones which will produce the biggest lambs or twin lambs—may be the most susceptible to ketosis or pregnancy disease.

Larry Best, Pickaway County extension agent, said: "The fact that a ewe is developing twin lambs or even a single large lamb may not allow her enough stomach space to get all her needs from hay."

Unless a ewe gets enough carbohydrates in her feed, she uses too much of her body fat and develops disease.

Lest explained that too little carbohydrates to meet a ewe's energy needs during development of unborn lambs results in the accumulation of products which are toxic to ewes. The toxics are normal products of fat and are called ketone bodies.

Ketosis, or pregnancy disease, is largely a problem of feeding and management. It occurs during the fourth or fifth month of pregnancy. Ewes first appear sleepy, walk with an unsteady gait, become paralyzed and then lie with their heads bent back.

BEST SAFEGUARD is to feed liberal amounts of good legume hay and a quarter pound of grain daily, beginning eight weeks before lambing. Best said to increase the grain ration to one pound per day.

Hereford Group Plans To Seek New Members

Pickaway County Hereford Breeders' Association met recently in the home of Harold Strous, Laurelvile Route 1, for a basket dinner.

Business of the meeting consisted of plans for a membership campaign to enroll new breeders with registered Hereford stock and to plan for the 1952 Pickaway County Fair.

The plan calls for contacting outside breeders to prepare a special separate show for horned and polled Herefords.

In addition, the Association continued discussion of plans for a breeders' tour this summer.

Two members of the local group reported purchases of new blooded stock during the meeting. They were J. B. Stevenson of Circleville and A. E. Weidner of Lancaster.

Next meeting of the group will be in early April in the Stevenson home.

Friends Complete Youth's Project

NEW CARLISLE, March 4.—(P)—The Church of the Brethren sent a $300 Holstein heifer to Europe Tuesday as a gift from the late Paul W. Fundenburg, a 17-year-old Clark County farm boy.

Paul died of influenza before he could raise a heifer to give to the church's relief program. His schoolmates, neighbors and friends contributed $256 and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Glen Fundenburg, added $44 from Paul's savings to buy a heifer to give in the youth's name.

A front-opening dishwasher is a wise choice for a kitchen that hasn't much counter space because the top of it may be utilized.

C. W. Lapierre, general manager of the GE aircraft gas turbine division, said the dedication will be held March 18 and 19, in commemoration of "the fastest 10 years in aviation history." Top military and defense production officials and

It is powered by two 16-pound pulse jet engines and has a top speed of 80 miles an hour. (International)

GE To Dedicate New Jet Plant

CINCINNATI, March 4.—(P)—A host of VIPs will be invited to the dedication at Lockland this month of the jet engine center which the General Electric Co. is building there.

C. W. Lapierre, general manager of the GE aircraft gas turbine division, said the dedication will be held March 18 and 19, in commemoration of "the fastest 10 years in aviation history." Top military and defense production officials and leaders of the aviation industry and of state and local governments will attend.
